
MARIA ELENA VILLAMIL

Born from contemplation, VERA Spring Summer 27, inhabits the quiet poetry of the landscape. Inspired by Mary Oliver, the collection explores nature as a place of memory, introspection, and becoming.

Structured forms meet fluid volumes and weightless fabrics, balancing utility with the softness of the meadow. Pleats, gathers, and functional details echo the rhythm of everyday life, craftsmanship, and the fleeting movement of summer.

Inspired by Gustav Klimt’s ornamental richness and neo-impressionist influences, the collection translates florals and organic forms through hand-painted compositions, layered color, and expressive texture.

Deep greens, earthy tones, creamy white, and flashes of ultra pink compose a palette suspended between earth and summer.
